THE ABOLITION OF TORTURE

Martha Vũ Vivy - Đoàn Phaolô Lê Bảo Tịnh - West Hartford, CT

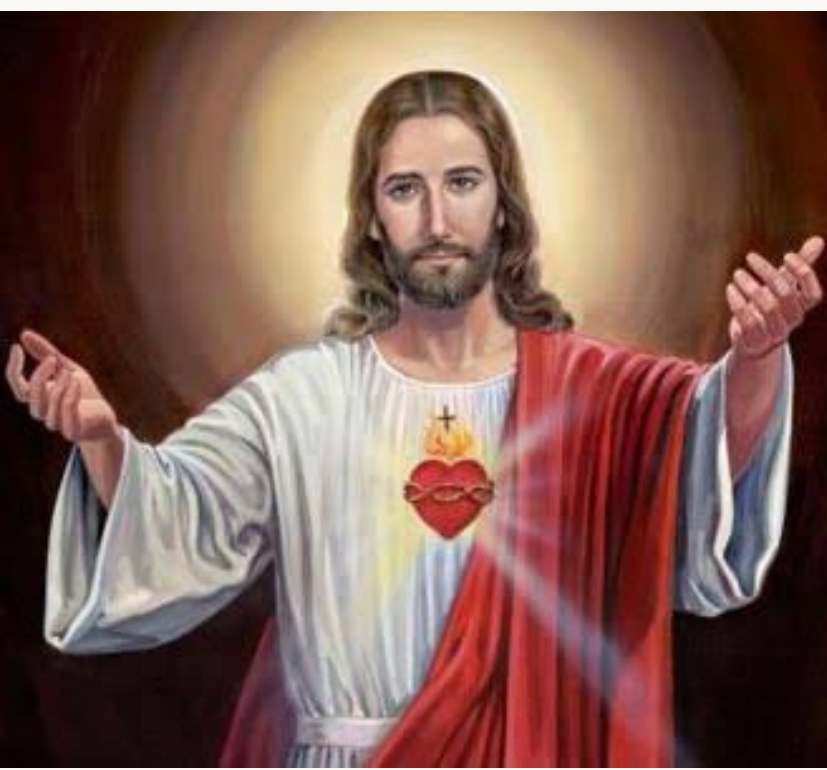

The rationale behind torture can vary among individuals. Some people may find it as a solution or an effective way to obtain information. Others see it as a way to instill fear in order to correct a behavior and prevent events from happening again. In this context, torture is a grave violation of human rights and it has persisted throughout history as a way to inflict pain and suffering on others in order to gain control and promote fear. In today's world, there is a growing global consensus on the urgent need for its abolition. The Pope prays that the international community may commit in a concrete way to ensuring the abolition of torture and guarantee support to victims and their families. The Catholic Church has played a significant role in this by promoting for human rights and advocating for the dignity of every human being. Furthermore, within the Vietnamese Eucharistic Youth Movement, youth leaders persistently educate the next generation on empathy and the teachings of Jesus. Their aim is to foster a future where individuals can embrace their shared humanity and strive for a more compassionate society.

The Pope, as the spiritual leader of the Catholic Church, carries significant moral authority. Through pastoral statements and public addresses, the Pope consistently condemns torture, urging governments, institutions, and individuals to reject it unequivocally. He challenges society to confront fear, dismantle systems of oppression, and pursue justice. Additionally, his prayers invoke guidance, strength, and illumination, enabling believers to confront their own fears and challenge the systems and structures that perpetuate torture.

The Catholic Church acknowledges the profound physical, psychological, and spiritual repercussions inflicted by torture upon individuals, and it has proactively responded by compassionate pastoral care and support to victims and their families. In recognition of the arduous journey towards healing and recovery, the Church provides a range of invaluable resources, including healing ministries, counseling services, and comprehensive rehabilitation programs. These holistic solutions empower survivors, aiding them in reclaiming their lives and facilitating their successful reintegration into society.

In order to build a better and brighter future, we must educate the next generation and allow them to create change in the world, change that will eliminate torture. By educating young people about the realities of torture, its consequences, and its ethical implication, they become aware of the severity and inhumanity of this act. This fosters a sense of empathy and moral responsibility, compelling them to take action and advocate for the others. God teaches us to love God and to love your neighbors. Through his teachings and the stories that the bible shares, the youth can develop a deep sense of compassion and empathy for those who have suffered and continue to suffer from its effects. They learn to see the humanity in others and stand in solidarity with victims.
