LIVING WITH DISABILITIES

Tr. Raphael Trần John - Đoàn Kitô Vua - Medford, MA

We reflect on the lives of those living with disabilities, understanding the importance of placing them at the heart of our society. They bring unique perspectives and strengths that enrich our communities.

Institutions, whether schools, workplaces, or public spaces, have a responsibility to create inclusive programs. These programs should not only accommodate but also value and encourage the active participation of individuals with disabilities.

As we consider these matters, the wisdom of the Bible reminds us, "God is not unjust; he will not forget your work and the love you have shown him as you have helped his people and continue to help them" (Hebrews 6:10). This verse underscores the importance of recognizing and assisting those in need, including those living with disabilities.

Inclusive programs foster a sense of belonging and allow everyone to contribute their unique talents. They break down barriers and create a more equitable society.

It's vital that we pause and recognize the remarkable strength and unwavering determination of people with disabilities. They are a source of inspiration, demonstrating that the human spirit knows no bounds. As our society evolves, let's keep people with disabilities at the forefront of our minds, cherishing their wisdom and life experiences.
